The New York's Secret Life

In 2008, the photographer and film director Francesco Carrozzini bought a townhouse in Greenwich Village for $6.8 million. Ostensibly, he got a home built in 1844 with low ceilings and small dark rooms. But luxury real estate is never about the basics.

The house is part of the Macdougall-Sullivan Gardens Historic District a landmarked community of 21 row homes. Between them is a large interior courtyard shaded by maples, sycamores and palms. It's a secret garden in the middle of the city, hidden from the street. Each home comes with its own small backyard that borders on the larger common area shared by all.

Adapted from: <http://www.nytimes.com>

Based on the text:

- a) All the houses didn't come with small backyard.
- b) It's easy to find this landmark around famous streets.

The New York's Secret Life

In 2008, the photographer and film director Francesco Carrozzini bought a townhouse in Greenwich Village for $6.8 million. Ostensibly, he got a home built in 1844 with low ceilings and small dark rooms. But luxury real estate is never about the basics.

The house is part of the Macdougall-Sullivan Gardens Historic District a landmarked community of 21 row homes. Between them is a large interior courtyard shaded by maples, sycamores and palms. It's a secret garden in the middle of the city, hidden from the street. Each home comes with its own small backyard that borders on the larger common area shared by all.

The verbs "got" and "built", are in the

- a) Present Perfect tense
- b) Simple Past Tense
- c) Past Progressive
- d) Future tense
