Summer Wine

Hot-weather drinking requires its own genre of wines: light, easygoing, blithe and, above all, refreshing. These sorts of wines are enjoyable year-round, but in the sweaty summer months, the desirable becomes the imperative.

It's not a question of red or white or even pink. All are good as long as they come in the proper summer weight. Just as winter woools are stored away, so are enervating heavy wines that weigh you down, rather than pep you up.

These summery wines are especially appealing when the price is equally untaxing. I've long asserted that the greatest values in wines are in the $15 to $25 range.
